STARVATION AND POLITICS.

OUTCOME OF THE POLITICAL OB-JECT LESSON AT GRANITE CITY.

WAGES HAVE BEEN HELD BACK.

Women and Children Go Hungry While Waiting for the Wages
They Have Already Earned.

There are people going hungry in Granite City to-day while they wait for money they have earned.

Rolling mill employees who have done just five days' work during the entire summer have been waiting over two weeks for their pay.

Meanwhile, they have suffered the bitterest pangs of poverty. They have seen their children sicken from want. Some have watched their little ones die because there was no money for either food or medicine. This bleak morning will find many without a fire to give warmth.

This suffering of men and women, these deaths of starving babes are the result of a political object lesson—warranted simon pure. "Mark Hanna Brand."

Politics and poverty are the uppermost issues in Granite City. They are a joint interest, inasmuch as one has grown out of the other. The workmen realize that their circumstances are a political outgrowth—that their hunger, the pinched faces and blue lips of their little ones are incidents of the campaign for the maintenance of the existing gold standard.

For a year there was steady work in the by Niedringhaus manufacturing plant. Then came the presidential campaign. The Republican party declared for gold. Mr.
Niedringhaus had his plants closed and discovered that his men were for free silver. There was a shut down that the men might have a foretaste of what the gold forces claim will happen if Democracy triumphs in November.

The men are having their foretaste, and from their bitter helplessness they realize what will happen if the grip of the money kings is perpetuated in November.

But this is not the only kind of tune the Niedringhaus know how to play. There are other strings to their political poverty harp, and these millionaires are artists in the handling of the instrument.

They know only too well how to touch every chord. They play upon the love, the fear, the honor, the patriotism of every man, wheedling where they may, driving where they must, in the hope of forcing the ballots of their employees into the grand as-Between these homes where death had paid such inopportune visits, lives a little woman whose sunny disposition is not hardened by want. She was hanging out the family washing when the reporter and a group of women approached.

"The children are in there on the bed They've been sick for two days, but we haven't any money to buy quinine."

That was the way she explained her condition.

"Do the Niedringhaus owe your husband any money?"

"Yes, he has five days time coming to be paid. It's been owing for two weeks. How do we live? Well, it's a mystery. We scrape together what we can. When we haven't anything to eat we go hungry."

"Can you get credit at the grocery?"

"Glad you, no! Our credit was shut off after the mill closed down. We owe him more now than we can expect to pay in three months, even if my husband should get steady work."

"Why don't your husbands demand their money?"

"They are afraid. No one's brave enough to demand it."

THE DERVISHES AGAIN RETIRE.

KHALIFA'S MEN FORCED BACK BY THE ANGLO-EGYPTIAN ARMY.

SHELLED BY THE GUNBOATS.

A Dervish Steamer That Opened Fire on the Expedition Was Sunk in the Nile.

CAIRO, Sept. 19.—A special dispatch from Kerna, the Dervish post on the Nile, announces that the groups of the Khalifa evacuated that place when the Anglo-Egyptian forces arrived there to-day.

The garrison of Kerna crossed the river and took up a position at El Haair, on the western side of the river.

Under cover of the fire of the Anglo-Egyptian artillery, three of the gunboats of the expedition passed up the Nile and shelled the enemy's position.

The gunboats sunk a Dervish steamer, which had opened fire upon them.

Naval Commander Colville of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition was slightly wounded.

The casualties of the Egyptian side were insignificant. The loss of the enemy is not stated.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Gen. Sir Herbert Kitchener, in command of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition to Dongola, telegraphed today from Kerna, on the Nile, to the War Office, announcing that he occupied Kerna without opposition at dawn. The enemy retired to the west bank at El Haair.

The dispatch adds that Sirard shelled the enemy's position, on the east bank. Under cover of this fire three gunboats passed up the river to the west bank, sinking the enemy's steamer and inflicting heavy loss upon the Dervishes.

Naval Commander Colville was slightly wounded and an Egyptian officer and three men were wounded.

The steamer El Teb struck the rocks at the mouth of the Hanek Cataract.

The Dervish remains at Kerna with the main forces, awaiting further news of the enemy.

DICK LITTLE ARRESTED.

Carrie Johnson, Whom He Shot, Is Expected to Die.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HANNIBAL, Mo., Sept. 19.—Dick Little, who shot Carrie Johnson in this city Thursday evening, was arrested last night at West Quincy and brought to this city. He made a desperate effort to escape from the officers, but they arrested him at the point of his arms. "We've forgotten the state of Missouri," he said, as he was taken to the jail.

He was arraigned this morning before Judge Smith and entered a plea of guilty. He was held without bond to await the action of the Grand Jury.

He was looking for work. It took a day and a night to locate him so that he could be brought home for a last look at his little one. Groceryman Podolski, clerk, went down in his own pocket and raised a collection among his friends to pay the funeral expenses.

Two doors below this family lives another of the same name. By a curious coincidence, they, too, lost a baby. The mother was alone at the time, as the father was in the Louis looking for work. It took a day

RINAKER'S BREAK.

He Insulted His Audience and All the Silver Republicans and Democrats Left.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 19.—Thomas Rinaker, son of Gen. John I. Rinaker, Republican candidate for Congress in this district, made a bad break while addressing an audience of 100 persons composed largely of Democrats and free silver Republicans.

During his discourse he took two pieces of silver from his pocket, laid them on a table and then proceeded to get a gold piece from his pocket. As he did so he made the following remark:

"The silver Republican law says that gold piece will form a circle around me to prevent the Gillespie silver men from taking possession of it. I will show you a gold piece."

There were several silver men on the stage, and one of them arose and said: "Mr. Rinaker, perhaps it would be better for the silver citizens of Gillespie to retire than for you to take the risk of losing that gold piece you borrowed to bring to Gillespie as a show."

The silver Republicans and Democrats, men and ladies, left the hall and Mr. Rinaker found he had only a few new Republicans and his Bunker Hill guard, who were 15 per cent boys and whose expenses were paid to get them to Gillespie, to talk to him.

IN THE FAR WEST.

Mill Levy, Wanted in New Orleans for Wife Murder and Forgery, on the Way Home.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 19.—Detective F.
L. Leese of New Orleans passed through coming from the Cour D'Alene country, having in charge Mill Levy, a young man belonging to one of the best families in the Crescent City, where he is wanted on charges of murdering his young and beautiful wife and of committing forgeries aggregating $5,000. The officer had been on Levy's track since the latter part of July, tracing him from point to point, till last Monday, when he located him about two miles from Murray, working with some prospectors, who were ignorant of his antecedents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—At the next meeting of the Police Board Capt. O'Brien will ask the commissioners to use their influence in having a law passed similar to that which is in existence in New Hampshire.

The New Hampshire law says that "a person known to be a thief, pickpocket or burglar, having no visible means of support, when found prowling about any steamboat landing, railroad depot, banking institution, broker's office, place of amusement, auction room, store, shop, crowded thoroughfare, car or omnibus or at any public gathering or assembly, shall be deemed a vagabond, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the House of Correction for not less than four and not more than twelve months."

Capt. O'Brien thinks a law similar to this would drive all the crooks out of the city.
Every criminal in the city who refused to become a reputable citizen and earn an honest living, would have to seek other fields.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Michael Callahan a laborer in the yards of the Long Island Railroad, in Jamaica, L. I., has found much more reason to interest himself in the money question than he had a week ago. Money is something that has come to him slowly and in such small quantities that he did not care a fig about the ratio of silver and gold.
He now carries a roll, however, that looks very big to him.

He was shoveling clinders from between the rails in the yards Thursday when he caught sight of a greenback poking out.
An examination revealed a half dozen more.
There were six $20 silver certificates, $100 bank note and $30 in small bills, $50 in all. Mike shoved the roll into his inside pocket and after waiting himself that there was no more waiting among the clinders he carried the good news and the money home to his wife.

"Look there!" he said, as he displayed the roll. "Some goldbug must have dropped that out of a car window. If he did, I'll take good care to spend it before he comes to claim it. Me and the old lady will take a good vacation. I don't know whether to go to Coney Island or Narragansett P. I."

Mike has received many congratulations from his fellow-workmen because of his lucky find.
